The Arc of Delaware County was founded in 1951 by a small group of parents in Lansdowne whose children were excluded from public education because of their disabilities.

Incorporated in 1956, this grass-roots non-profit organization worked tirelessly to bring about social and legal changes in support of children with disabilities. In 1974, The Arc celebrated the landmark Rights to Education legislation that opened public schools everywhere to children with disabilities. By the 1980's, adults with disabilities were also celebrating such achievements as the Americans with Disabilities Act.

Today, The Arc is the leading voice of advocacy for citizens of Delaware County who live with developmental disabilities.

*"The Arc helps people with disabilities and their families find strength through knowledge, mutual support & advocacy. The Arc of Delaware County is a very special organization."
